“ I have been with my wife the daughter of miss puffer for a little over three years and didn't have a lot of time to get to know her, but her passing has been a major depression of any memory that I've ever experienced. Because I was allowed to help her and her husband move up to GA and get settled into the fist home they have been able to manage on there own in years because of financial and health issues. Watching her buy so much and becoming a happy joyful Pearson and being able to bond with wendy most of all meant everything to me, then watching her die and my wife suffering her loss has been heart breaking. There's not a day that goes by that I'm comfortable talking and laughing with my mom because she's lost that. If there's anyone who can help out with the cremation balance it would be ablessing
