“ Who wouldn't have loved Uncle Jack. Always a smile and a story to tell. I remember visiting here in Douglas as a child and listening to all the Spivey family talk at once. Uncle Jack talked so fast and so southern I was in awe of having an uncle who could speak another language. If my mother was here to share her most vived memory it would probably be the time when as a teenager he got tired of me learning to walk and getting in the way....so he tied me to a chair. Jack was about 15 years older than me....the grown-ups had probably asked him to watch out for me....so he did. I doubt my mother trusted him again for quite a few years. If you put Uncle Jack and Uncle Phillip together.....there's not enough room for the stories that could be told. I love my Spivey family and Janice too. Praying for you in your grief.
