“ Leon and I were classmates at Coffee High. I didn't see him for many years and one day he came to the hospital in radiology where I worked. He was quite upset and I began to talk with him. He remembered me and rolled his chair up to the desk and we talked about high school and my children and other things. He asked me how I remembered him and I told him he had not changed much since high school. He just smiled and then it was time for his exam. Mary Ann came by a few days later and I shared our visit together and she laughed and said you now have a friend for life. Mary Ann I am sorry for your loss and my prayers are with you.
