“ Bobby, I still hear your infectious laugh and ability to light up a room. Your love and kindness will always be remembered. Your heart will always remain inside of my heart. ❤️ I loved you then, I loved you now, & love you always. I hope your inner wild child is finally free from this relentless demon. May you rest in peace up there, save me a spot my Angel.

“ Even though we parted ways some time ago, for many years, I tried to provide you with the love and support you needed, a place to call home, and a real family. We shared moments of happiness and had hope for a better future together. Our journey wasn't easy, and the challenges were many, but through it all, I'll always be grateful for the greatest gift you gave me. You will always be her daddy.
